IN EUROPE

LONDON—The most recent edition I received was from the state that is still at war. The end of the war was hardly the end of restoration of the normal, peaceful civilian life which can already be detected in the United States and Britain. This is not because the Jugoslavs are less energetic than other Europeans, but because their revolution is still actively in progress.

MANY OBSERVERS are apt to explain what is happening in Jugoslavia by pointing out that it is the result of the Balkan democracy to be won.

But the Balkan democracy as we understand it is certainly the case in Britain and Canada, this certainly is true.

It is naturally naive to expect any form of Balkan democracy in Jugoslavia. They never had democracy and many generations probably will pass before they have it.

Therefore, it is a waste of time to expect democracy there just now.

Balkan governments always have been autocratic and probably always will be. In the same time it is impossible to expect democracy without democracy, it is possible.

Minister Says:

1942 Taxation
Refund Before
March 31, 1948

OTTAWA, Jan. 19.—(CP)—Refundable portions of 1942 income and excess profits taxes will be paid out by March 31, 1948, Minister McCann announced last night. The refundable portion of 1943 taxes will be paid out by June 30, 1948, and the six months portion of the 1944 tax by Sept. 30, 1948.

THE INCOME TAX ACT provided that amounts collected under the government's compulsory savings plan, should be repayable not later than three months after the fiscal period after the cessation of hostilities. By order-in-council, however, the date for tax refunds was so far as tax regulations are concerned—has been set at Sept. 2, 1948.

The dates announced mark the maximum time which the government may retain the money. The act also provides for the government to make refunds before that date if it should choose such a procedure.

COMPULSORY SAVINGS were introduced in 1942 and continued until July 1, 1944. In announcing the decision, Hon. J. G. Purvis, Minister of Finance said $200,000,000 had been saved under the plan which was then suspended.

Should the government decide to make the refunds as an earlier date such as April 1, the amount would be applied to all taxpayers except for specific provisions already made which authorize refunds.

City Officer Tells of Fight That Paved Route to Germany

By JACK DeLONG
Edmonton Bulletin Staff Reporter

CALGARY, Jan. 19.—Trying to judge the distance remaining to the Falaise Gap before the Canadians came into contact with the Germans, Lt.-Col. T. B. "Nash" DSO, youthful commanding officer of the South Alberta Regiment that arrived in Calgary Friday night from overseas.

THE EDMONTON OFFICER, who was a major in the armoured regiment, had been serving in Western Europe, as staff in the turret of a Sherman tank and listened in on the battle through his radio receiving set in phones.

"We had to make our way. One for general operations and another for general interception. We could hear the Americans 18 and 20 miles away giving orders to their tanks. It was like coming out of a tunnel. I like coming in and yelling: 'How are you coming over there, Yanks?' But it was like coming out of a tunnel to do that," Colonel Nash said.

"We knew that we were going to be in trouble, however, because of the increasing strength of their radio. Actually it was the Polish troops who made the final breakthrough, but it was the trap on thousands of Germans and setting the stage for the big raid."

To those rained orders the Americans were giving and the steadily increasing strength of the German forces, the Canadian officers incidents of the campaign, Col. Nash said.

THE SOUTH ALBERTA, who had come from front pretty well to themselves in the critical stages of the battle, are generally believed to have been the first to break through.

"To me those rained orders the Americans were giving and the steadily increasing strength of the German forces, the Canadian officers incidents of the campaign, Col. Nash said.

Quebec Promises Loyal Co-operation

OTTAWA, Jan. 19.—(CP)—Quebec will cooperate "frankly and totally" with the Dominion government and the other Canadian provinces in the post-war reconstruction of the economy, Premier Duplessis told the House of Commons yesterday morning.

He also announced that the province conference will be convened in Quebec next week.

Hope Dwindles For Averting Steel Strike

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Henry J. Kaiser, west coast steel operator, today accepted the proposal of the CIO to compromise in the steel wage dispute and signed a contract with the CIO steelworkers.

THE STRIKE against the country's basic industry officially is expected to start on Sunday, but already operations are being curtailed and work has been off in some places.

However, the walkout, if fully effective would be one of the biggest, if not the biggest, in American history, it was disclosed yesterday. President Truman's compromise proposal for

Russians Obtain Signed Cheques

II S. Blum, manager of the St. Paul, Minn., office of the Associated Press, was interviewed Saturday morning that thieves who looted the company's safe made off with an amount of cash he was negotiating up to a maximum of $100 and about $100,000 in checks.

All business firms are being warned to keep a sharp lookout for the cheques and to refuse to cash them. A quick count shows that the amount left blank and was signed by E. M. Samis. The missing amounts are numbered $2104 to $2208 inclusive.

There is one inescapable fact: the only way this 80 per cent can get adequate, decent and comfortable shelter is by Dominion government subsidization of home building. All other plans have failed. And the only alternative is Mr. Nichols' brutal and callous advice, "Build yourself a house do without."

An Editorial "Build Yourself or Do Without"

Two years ago, the National Housing Act was passed by the Canadian Parliament "to provide for the construction of 700,000 housing units, ultra-modern in design and facilities, $35,000 in urban centres, $4,000 on farms and $1,000 in rural areas but not on farms. In addition," said the report issued at the time, "a multitude of tenement buildings are planned."

All this was to have happened in the first ten years after the close of the war.

Something seems to have gone wrong. Nothing like this has even started to happen. There is no sign that anything like it will happen. And now we have the word of H. C. Nicholls of Toronto, president of the Canadian Construction Association, that the annual capacity of Canada's construction industry is not anything like the 70,000 a year envisioned by the National Housing Act and the parliamentary committee which formulated it.

Mr. Nicholls says that the capacity of Canada's construction industry is "not in excess of 30,000 units a year."

If this is so, the National Housing Act would appear to be something of a joke—a very bad and bitter joke to thousands of homeless Canadian families.

And bitterness is added in still greater measure to the situation by the advice with which Mr. Nicholls accompanies his announcement.

With that contempt and unconcern for the common man which has characterized all official pronouncements on housing, Mr. Nicholls advises prospective home owners to forget about mass housing projects and to "go into the market" on their own initiative to solve each his own housing problem for himself.

In other words, after the Rt. Hon. Mr. Basye and his cabinet colleagues have messaged around with the housing problem for years, this "expert" advice of Mr. Nicholls is all that is offered to the Canadian people—"If you have the money, go out and build yourself a house."

And bitterness is added in still greater measure to the situation by the advice with which Mr. Nicholls accompanies his announcement.

With that contempt and unconcern for the common man which has characterized all official pronouncements on housing, Mr. Nicholls advises prospective home owners to forget about mass housing projects and to "go into the market" on their own initiative to solve each his own housing problem for himself.

For the truth is that the 80 per cent of Canadians who earn less than $200 a year have not the remotest hope of building themselves modern houses under present circumstances or of buying modern houses built under present circumstances or of paying rent on the houses built under present circumstances.

No man can economically spend more than one-fifth of his net income on shelter. In England it is figured that he should spend no more than one-sixth. And nowhere in Canada are modern houses being provided that will rent at between $15 and $25 a month which is all 80 per cent of our people can pay.

The provincial government has loaned the city of Edmonton $1,000,000 to build houses. It is the fault of neither the province nor the city that even when rents on these houses are calculated on cost prices those rents are still above the paying capacity of the poorer paid 80 per cent.

There is one inescapable fact: the only way this 80 per cent can get adequate, decent and comfortable shelter is by Dominion government subsidization of home building. All other plans have failed. And the only alternative is Mr. Nichols' brutal and callous advice, "Build yourself a house do without."

Gnr. S. Makar

St. Paul Gunner Describes Troubles in "Fluid" Battle

By E. R. HORTON

Serious difficulties into which the artillery may project itself when the front is quiet, what military leaders and their staffs were visiting envoys by Gnr. S. Makar, St. Paul, one of the artillerymen who was crossed to the St. Paul Field Battery R.C.A. from Edmonton for the journey home.

HE HAD BEEN in the St. Paul Field Battery R.C.A. at Folkestone, near Osterloo in Holland he said when his battery took its worst punishment in the war when it was walking through Dunkirk. It had well ahead of the infantry, he said, when they were always attacked by German planes. It was necessary for them to beat as hasty a retreat as possible, in the same direction as the German rear guard action.

Four men of the unit were killed in the retreat, he said, and 18 of the remainder were wounded. Four guns of the troop were destroyed. The gunner, he said, was the infantry who overwhelmed their gun positions and made it necessary for them to hook the weas-pots to the lightly-armored gun tractors which towed them.

Gnr. Makar had gone overseas in October 1944 and since his arrival in England had been sent out to the 1st Light Anti-Aircraft Artillery Regiment, which was based around Crowley in Sussex. Crowley is on the path between the south coast and London and the ack-ack here has had a busy time of it, occasionally, dealing with enemy plane attacks.

He had come to England with the plane-killer unit but had been transferred later to field artillery. He had been in the field artillery unit until the war was over. He stayed until the war was over. He was cross posted last August to the St. Paul Field Battery for his return home.

Premier Has Flu

Premier Ernest C. Manning was absent from a cabinet meeting Friday, being confined to his home with a mild attack of influenza.

In his absence, Hon. W. A. Fairley, minister of public works, presently succeeded him in command of the Alberta government.

Edmonton and central Albertans with the famed South Alberta Regiment, were happy at the end of their long journey from overseas Saturday morning. Above is a group of men partaking of light refreshment in the Canadian Red Cross Hut in Calgary, while they waited for the midnight train north. From left to right are: Sgt. R. G. Young, Leesard, with comely Lois Barnes, Red Cross worker, on his knee; Cpl. E. L. Beaudry, 7718 118 avenue;

Tpr. W. Zytaruk, 10554 96 street; Tpr. H. Wilinski, Smoky Lake; Tpr. J. Makayevick, 10313 95 street; Sgt. W. P. Cudmore, 810 118 street; Mrs. B. Ford, 808 150 street, and Mrs. S. Hartman, Red Cross worker. Standing at the rear centre is a Canadian Legion War Services worker. Despite a biting northerly wind there was a large crowd of relatives and friends at the Edmonton CPR station to greet returning members of the regiment Saturday morning.

who worked for a wholesale hardware firm in Edmonton before joining up.

All these officers were originally with the unit.

NASH, SHELL AND HUGHES entered the unit as second lieutenants and completed their tour of duty while serving in the 19th Alberta Dragoons of Edmonton.

Furth enlisted as a trooper and was his company's gunner in the field.

Others returned home with the SAR who either enlisted with or came out to Canada to join later from general reinforcement units, include the following from the unit:

Sgt. D. Munro, 1231 Jasper avenue, a former grocer in the city; Tpr. G. Exner, RR 4, Edmonton; Tpr. J. W. McLean, 1000 118 street, a former farmer in the Clover Bar district; Tpr. A. M. Herd, 1316 131 street, a former grocer; Tpr. A. J. Langley, 1219 Jasper avenue; Tpr. C. L. Johnson, Camrose; Cpl. L. Beaudry, 7718 118 avenue; and Capt. G. F. Jones, in fighting for Spain; France; Tpr. R. S. B. Ford, 908 150 street, Jasper.

SOT. W. J. WILKINSON, an original from Wainwright, who also went overseas just prior to the fall, crossed to the 1st Light Anti-Aircraft Artillery Regiment at Flin Flon, 10908 124 street, an original member of the SAR at Paisley; Sgt. H. W. Turner, 10549 132 street, also an original member.

Sgt. R. G. Young, Lessard, an original; L-Sgt. C. C. Culver, 10554 96 street, an original member; Tpr. J. R. Fitzgerald, North Edmonton; Tpr. C. P. Blackstock, Dawson Creek, original; Tpr. M. Anysoff, St. Paul, original; and original wounded at Bergen Op Zoom; Tpr. S. R. Alexander, 9516 98 street, an original member.

"So far," he said, "the main reason the SAR has been successful is because they came from Western Canada and general and broad education and general training in the field."

OTHERS STRESSED the fact that westerners have more initiative than easterners and it shows up in the battlefield, he declared.

And the SAR was soon confirmation of this fine attribute of men from the wide open spaces for most of the SAR men, D. W. Wotherspoon, DSO, and Dutch Broekman, lion who commanded the 1st Light Anti-Aircraft Artillery in the heavy fighting in western Europe.

COL. WOTHERSPOON, a former Toronto lawyer, just 37 years of age, decided to go into the army although he had been serving as a bridge commander since Lt.-Col. Nels End-E. W. Harrison, now.

"I think westerners are tops as soldiers. I don't know just how to account for it. Perhaps it's the fact that the west is a land where the west dominates the western and that westerners in general have never known the meaning of the word 'submit'.

At any rate it makes for a combination of initiative plus intelligence that is unbeatable and I would like to give you an example of how it works."

SOT. H. MILNE, DCM, of Cal

gary, who was a tank crewman

when he was captured by the Germans, was captured by the Germans, was captured by the Germans, and was taken to a prison camp.

"The suggestion that Meyer's wife might be brought to Canada was not received with indignation but with a smile.

"Canadians should never have to pay for the support of Germany,"

they said.

A few of the officers of the regiment thought that the reviewing of the trial of the German prisoners was the best way to bring the troops home.

"After the war is over, we can have a trial of our own,"

they said.

'Teen Club Activities of Today

Young Boys and Girls Fare Well in Own Circle

Build Good Citizens for Future

By JACK WILCE
In a talk the other day Mayor Ainsley pointed out a good example of the influence that youth organizations have on preventing juvenile delinquency. He stated that since 1931 not one of the youngsters, who have appeared in police court, has been a member of an athletic club.

THE MAIN REASON for this is that youths belong to clubs have something to occupy their mind, and it is always a good thing, I believe, that another big factor in this, is that when a boy or girl belongs to an organization of some kind, and keeps himself and themselves with many other youngsters, and keep a lot of growing up activities, until they have had time to get their fill of youthful ideas.

ONE EXAMINER of the group, who got out of the heads of teenagers, is the dances that they hold. Just before the war, or before the Edmon-Teen clubs started operating, if a teen-age girl would go to a dance she would not be the public dance halls in the city.

When a youth went into one of these places, he would say "Well, it was common gossip after that for people to say, "Well, I see he (or she) is at the dance hall, and the dance halls half-ready." Why? Just because youth was looking for a bit of fun.

THE PEOPLE who said these things were not saying them without foundation, either.

With teen-clubs putting their own dances and making them that of the best, and those who are of an older age, dancing can be carried on by the youth of Edmonton for what it is intended, to have fun and exertion.

So now when one of these boys or girls passes out of the teen-age, they have a much different idea of what they want to do, and they should conduct themselves to be accepted by those present.

I CAN SEE that if the Edmon-Teen's youth, look over their wonderful activities along the same lines as they have been, in a few years time, when they have become the grown-ups of the city, a dance will once again become a dance that will again become a dance.

This is just one of the "examples" of how these clubs for the "in-between" will be made to fit in with our Canadian future.

Edmonton's clubs were formed at just the right time, during the war, and we can be sure that the morale of many country are at their lowest ebb.

THESE TEEN CLUBS, without a doubt, have changed the character of a good many youths in our city during the past few years, and let's hope they will go on doing the same great work in the future.

A CORDIAL WELCOME TO ALL

Central Edmon-Teens

By OLA LARUSKA

Well, kids, it's just about closing time for our first meeting in our new office, and we have that nominations for the new Central branch executive open. Jan. 15.

That means you have more work in which to see that there'll be some changes made—if you're willing to participate in the various committees which are being organized in the West Hall.

RULES STATE THAT ALL names must be submitted in writing, and no name can be used twice.

Remember that to make sure the nomination paper must be signed by FIVE other Central branch members.

There will be a special Valentine dance, the date to be announced later, but from what we hear, things will really be popping when it is held.

Well, that's about it for now.

Good-bye.

West Edmon-Teens

By GEOFF NIGHTINGALE

I say again that "Things Ain't What They Used To Be" as last year's crop was not as good as this year's. Pete Poulin of the program committee had a super show lined up, and numerous couples was valuable prizes by participating in various contests, such as the egg race, darts, doughnuts, and dancing for all, and the floor rocked to the rhythm of the many dances.

Remember that to remember. There will be no dance on the 15th of the month, which by my calculations, is Valentine's Day.

There will be a special Valentine dance, the date to be announced later, but from what we hear, things will really be popping when it is held.

Well, that's about it for now.

Good-bye.

Many to Attend

Private Schools

Regulations are announced by which private schools will be brought under the control of the department of education. These regulations implement in detail legislation which was passed at the last session of the legislature.

Hereafter a private school must secure approval from the Minister of Education before it can be opened. If employed, classes above Grade VIII may not be conducted in a community where there is a graded school. The course of study, time given to a subject, and progress of pupils must be in line with the standards set by the department. Teachers must hold certificates of qualification, and the school be subject to inspection by departmental inspectors.

The intent of course is not to ban private schools, nor to any reflection thrown upon such schools now in operation. The aim simply is to make sure that pupils attending such schools will get as good education as those attending the public schools. Should it be found necessary at any time, the Minister is thus given power to intervene in the interests of the pupils and have the school and its instructional methods brought up to the provincial standard.

White Cane Week

Tomorrow, January 26, is to be known as White Cane Week. It is sponsored by the Inter-Provincial Council of the Blind and the Canadian National Institute of the Blind and is being assisted throughout the country and in Canada by the Canadian Council.

The purpose of White Cane Week is to acquaint the public with the use and significance of the white canes carried by the blind and to urge the public to assume that responsibility which the sight of a white cane lays upon them.

As far as we know, or should know, the white cane is carried as a symbol of blindness. It is useful to the sightless person as an instrument to assist him in finding his way along the streets and to call the attention of sighted persons to his condition. Let us help him every time we pass him.

The white cane should be a reminder to sighted persons that it is their duty to help those who carry it across intersections and through traffic hazards. It should remind motorists to drive with utmost care when a blind person is in sight. It should remind everyone to keep toys, kiddie-cars, bicycles and other obstructions off the sidewalks so that the hazard to the blind will not be increased.

In general, the white cane is a call to sighted persons to offer the blind aid, consideration and assistance in the same measure in which the blind heroically make efforts to help themselves.

Everyone should know what the white cane means. And this next week is the time to learn it.

Post Office Needs

The Postmaster General announced a few days ago that he proposes to provide air transport for all first class mail in the near future. This is an interesting and important proposal. If it can be done without increasing the cost of first class mail too much, it will add a definitely modernistic finish to the Canadian postal system.

But it is to be hoped the Postmaster General will not forget that the Canadian postal system needs a good many things much more urgently than air transport for all first class mail. The acute need in Canada is not so much for faster delivery of long distance mail as for a tremendous improvement in local delivery.

The fact is that in Edmonton, for instance, letters from one city address to another frequently take longer to arrive than letters from Calgary to Edmonton. Letters from the North Side to the South Side or vice versa are notoriously slow in arriving.

This is not a local condition implying a criticism of employees in the Edmonton post office. It is a national condition prevailing in almost every Canadian city and implies a definite criticism of the entire service.

Another matter which needs rectifying ahead of everything else is the delivery of mail between services and service-women overseas and their relatives and friends in Canada. The number of Christmas parcels that "went astray," the slow delivery of blue form letters and the general slackness of the overseas service is not to be taken as a minor disgruntle.

However deliverable, though an air service may be for first class mail, these are the crying needs that require attention.

Where To Cut Taxes

Correspondents at Ottawa are warning wage-earners, salary-earners and others who pay personal income tax that they should not expect any substantial cut in the levy when the budget is brought down at the coming session of Parliament. The government, however, will be lucky if they get a further reduction of 4 per cent.; which, added to the 16 per cent reduction made at last session, would bring the 1946-47 rate 20 per cent below the 1945-46 rate.

This prediction is based on the supposition that the budget for next fiscal year cannot be more than a third less than for the current year. This supposition seems not unreasonable, for the costs incident to demobilization and the placement of returning veterans will continue very for at least several months in the new year, while outlays on reconstruction projects will also be large. It does not, however, follow necessarily that only the trifling cut suggested can be made in income tax.

Whatever that cut is to be, it should not—like the last one—be a flat reduction applied all up and down the scale. Those who fall in the lower income brackets have first claim to relief, for the reason that those in the upper brackets will be taxed at no tax at all on the income of a married person who earns only $2,000 per year, or a single person who earns no more than $1,000 per year.

People in the lower income brackets are paying taxes to the office of records at a rate affixed to them. The Board of Statistics says it takes more to support a family than these taxpayers are earning. To grab part of their insufficient earnings as tax is unjust to the point of being absurd.

Those of us who should get the benefit of whatever reduction in taxation is to be made. A uniform reduction all along the line would not remedy the injustice. That would only perpetuate discrimination against those whom the Board says are not getting enough to properly support themselves and their families.

The Dominion is to pay 75 per cent of the cost of replacing machinery in vocational training schools which were cut out by the forces for the armed forces or industry. That seems a fair arrangement. Valuators, it is to be assumed, will be liberal in estimating the wartime damage done to equipment, and there should be no haggling where it is desired to install better—therefore more costly—machines.

Five Canadian major political parties issued a joint statement pledging their support to a program to put the country into a five-year plan. They have laid down the elements in self-government. There is also a sixth, Kim Koo party, which wants to take on the job of governing right away. Whether they are progressing toward democracy or something else, the Koreans apparently are going in for groupism with enthusiasm.

A letter from Dunvegan, Peace River, dated Dec. 4, contains the following particulars: Up to the present we have had no mail, but since the little snow the fell have disappeared. For the first time it was blowing from the north. The river, although pretty full of ice in November, is now quite open. The weather promises so far a mild, or at least a late winter.

Canada Is Vulnerable

Logical Invasion Point Would Be Our Northlands and This Country Would Be the Belgium of the New World as Battle-Field of Opposing Forces

The United Nations were fortunate to have been able to offset defeat in the past war. Let us hope that we can see that one of the reasons for our near defeat was our "unified complacency." We were invaded by land attack only the loss of manpower and war material. The cities, the towns, the industries, the farms, the forests, the mines, the fisheries, the rivers, the lakes, the mountains, the climate, the soil, the water, the people—all these would have suffered only the loss of manpower and war material. If the modern type of warfare is to be continued we again have to depend on the false splendor of our victory? A new war has actually started. It is just as potential as the last. We have learned to live with the economic cycle or recession. We have the experience to our credit that we have learned by hard experience that the war will be fought on the basis of our pre-paredness but due to our geographical position we have not been able to do well in a future war.

The ROAD AHEAD

Capt. HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

REPORTS of the trials of war criminals in Germany and Japan are getting boring but there is something more interesting in them than the morbid details of the crimes. It is the idea behind the trials—which is to set up precedents in international law and to impress the world with the importance of Allied justice. Those are not being carried out; we have been assured repeatedly, from any motives of revenge. If this be true then any moment now we can expect to be charged with war crimes as well.

EXAMPLE ONE of the charges of which Maj. Gen. Kurt Student, commander of the SS division which murdered Canadian prisoners, was convicted was inciting his men to fight without showing quarter. This will indeed be a new charge. In the trials so far, and on the basis of that charge, there must be a great number of Allied officers of every rank who suffered the same fate when they made that charge.

DO NOT insist on crossing the street in the thick of heavy motor traffic. Streets are slippery and fall may end your life. Take your time—don't hurry to an accident.

ROAD REPORTS

Roads reported good at Edmonton, Fort Macleod, Lethbridge, Red Deer, Medicine Hat, Brooks, and Grande Prairie. Roads in the hills, between Lethbridge and Fort Macleod, are all mostly dried.

Coroner's Jury Flays Sidewalk Lack in City

Lengthy double-rided verdict, returned here Friday afternoon by a six-man coroner's jury at an inquest held before Justice of Donald, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Donald, 1204 102 street, stated that the 16-year-old boy was killed when struck by a car driven by Norman L. Lesley. The accident occurred about 10:30 a.m. last Monday evening.

The "TRUTH," out for a full hour before rendering their verdict, made three observations in the two hours of ride. These were:

1. Loss of the accident facilities near the edge of the road on the highway.

2. The condition of the Lesley's driving was too fast in view of icy road conditions.

3. The coroner's jury found Lesley was driving too fast in view of icy road conditions.

According to evidence produced at the inquest, Donald was walking north on the Namao highway at the time of the accident. His feet had been on the west side of the road, facing oncoming traffic. Lesley, who was driving on the same side of the road, is alleged to have been blinded by the strong light of a truck approaching north and which he was passing when the accident took place.

DAVID YOUNG of Wetaskiwin, passenger in the car, said he heard that the accident occurred about 7:30 p.m. on Jan. 22. He testified that he had just prior to the accident seen Lesley drive a truck proceeding north on 97 street. He said that the car dimmed its lights but that light from the truck followed him for a quarter of a mile.

The truck had only one light, he said. The speed of the car was about 55 miles per hour. The accident took place just as the truck was passing him. "I saw the truck hit him," he declared, adding that he was only about one foot from the front of the truck. In his opinion, the driver could have avoided the accident. He said that the car appeared to him just as the boy was hit.

ACCORDING to evidence given by Constable W. H. Wynne and J. W. Cookson, who investigated the accident, the car skidded 153 feet before coming to rest in the ditch with the front end buried in the snow. The car skidded 79 feet, turned broadside for another 55 feet before coming to a stop in the ditch. Their evidence indicated the boy was carried more than 30 feet by the truck.

Constable Wynne said that the skid marks were 3 feet or 11 inches east of the center line on the travelled portion of the road. He stated that the road was very icy and uneven. The skid marks indicated there was no sand or ash on the road, no street lights north of 128 avenue, and no snow.

YORK, AN EMPLOYEE of the Lesley family, stated that when the car came to rest, the young driver ran across the road to the ditch to go and phone for the police and ambulance.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle, 13030 97 street, father of the driver, said that his son had the use of the car twice a week. He stated that the car was in good condition and that his son was "a good driver as any man."

Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle, 13030 97 street, driver of the car which passed Lesley a few moments before the accident, stated that he had seen Donald walking north on the travelled portion of the road. There was no sidewalk where he could have stopped and he was alone, she testified.

SHES STATED that the truck, referred to as being "quasi-new," came onto 97 street from 128 Avenue. Only the left-hand headlight was on, she said, and added it was a "good" headlight. The truck, she said, the truck was "quasi" new behind her.

Mrs. Carlisle, who heard of the accident when York went to the nearby stairs to phone for the police, returned to the scene of the accident about 10:30 a.m. Saturday. A small crowd had gathered around and that his son was "a good driver as any man."

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Kinnard, 13030 97 street, father of the driver, said that his son had the use of the car twice a week. He stated that the jury desired to question him but he would not be called.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Williams kept a watching brief for an insurance company.

Refrain From Meddling In Man and Wife's Affairs

A Husband Has Been Having a Serious Affair With His Secretary for a Number of Years and His Wife Does Not Suspect Him of Being Untrue to Her

BY DOROTHY DIX—A group of women who have a very close friend of whom we are very fond, they husband has been having a serious affair with his secretary for a number of years. He is very open about it. Tales he tells and stories he tells. His wife does not suspect him of being unfaithful to her, even though we have tried to warn her in many subtle little ways.

The husband has a lovely home and she has a wonderful woman could want except a faithful one. She has two children, one married the other just out of high school. We feel that our friend is young enough and attractive enough to marry

Dumb-Bells

ANSWER: Probably not, though she may have had two children.

YOUNG DANGER is not safe, but the difficulty of adjusting his child and your children to a communal life will take a lot of tact and understanding. Don't let him fight and from you and the father taking sides with your own. Don't let him fight and from you and the father taking sides with your own.

OUR LEAFLET No. 22, "Formulas and Early Feeding," may be had by enclosing a stamped envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

UNDECIDED.

ANSWER: Every child's first love is for its mother. Every baby clings to its mother because it depends on her for tenderness and all of its material needs. But in time, as it grows up, other loves come into its life and Mother is no longer all-in-all.

WHEN a girl marries, she should be a good husband but she does not know what she wants. Girls are so different that it is ridiculous to ask which is the greater. You might just as well ask which do you prefer in food—vegan or roast beef.

Your Baby And Mine

BY MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED
IS YOUR BABY HAPPY when awake and does he sleep well? Is he sleeping once at the rate of about eight hours? Does he look bright and tend to be continually active when awake? If he is reciting this way, you may be sure that he is getting the right kind of diet. In these first weeks and months of life, it is of paramount importance.

If he isn't gaining and sleeping well or isn't comfortable when awake, ask yourself a few leading questions:

DOES HIS FORMULA provide up to two ounces of milk for each feeding? Is there enough protein? Is there two ounces of protein-rich fresh milk, or one ounce of canned milk plus one ounce of dried milk? These are approximately the same in value.

In addition to this amount does he drink extra water in the formula? If so, you will need to increase the amount of water needed and make the cows milk more digestible to him.

DOES HIS FORMULA contain sugar? Even if he has enough milk for his needs, he'll still be satisfied with the formula if it contains sugar. The sugar portion is absent or too meager. Milk contains lactose and sugar which is good for the baby's health and growth.

THE HUMAN BREAST is an inspiring bit of anatomy, but most of us do not understand at all! Many persons in their thirties and forties have been known to dialing wrong telephone numbers and that newspaper is somewhat blurred, while practically all permanent experience at some time during their lifetime. Of course, there are exceptions, but if he finesses the shades, his heart easily can be made.

Would you like to take the reading lead? This really is on the top one!

THE RAPIDLY GROWING baby needs a balanced diet, protein in the diet and the vitamin D gives his body the ability to absorb calcium and the vitamins. So vitamin D, in some form (either plain cod liver or other fish liver oil or concentrated forms of these) is imperative in all cooked or processed formulas.

THE CHIEF REASON for this is the hardening of the lens of the eye, a natural process as one ages.

print clearly at least six inches from the eyes. At thirty, the average person can see print clearly at least six inches. At forty-five, the eyes are dimmed and within two inches, and within a few years time, you simply have to get a longer arm!

IF YOU WISH TO HAVE my leaflet No. 55, "Looking Straight and Pretty," about makeup for women, write to me and I will send it with this request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

BATH IN A CUP

In one of the big houses near the Teenie Weenie village a woman discovered that something had been into a pot of jam on her kitchen table. There was jam on the table and tracks leading to a teacup near by. There were jam tracks on the cup, too, and the tea left in the cup was colored with jam.

"That's queer," the woman thought. "Must have been a mouse here while I was out, but why should a mouse get into a teacup?"

If she had carefully examined those jam tracks she would have seen that they were not mouse tracks but tiny footprints and finger marks. They were Teenie Weenie footprints and this is how they came to be there.

Several of the little men had gone into the house to get warm, for it was a very cold day. As usual, the Dunce began to snoop around for something to eat. He climbed up onto the table and found a pot of jam there. It was plum jam, and that's one kind of jam the Dunce doesn't like, but when he called down to the rest of the little men on the floor below to tell them what was in the pot, Gogo immediately began scrambling up to the top of the table, for plum jam is one of his favorite dishes.

The Dunce did such a good job of boasting that he boosted Gogo right over the top into the pot. Gogo was able to reach the top of the jar and pull himself out, but he was covered with the sticky jam and he knew he would get a good scolding if the General found out that he had been meddling.

"Ah suah gotta wash mah clothes fo' Ah go home, but Ah'd done freeze if Ah tried fo' to wash outside on a cold day like this," Gogo told the Dunce.

"Wash in that teacup," suggested the Dunce, pointing to the cup on the table. "It's half full of tea, and it's nice and warm in this place."

Poor Gogo stripped off his clothes and climbed into the teacup while the rest of the Teenie Weenies gathered around and teased him. He washed out his clothes, wrung them as dry as he could and then finished drying them under a radiator on the floor below. His clothes were not what could be called clean and he smelled considerably like a wet tea ball, but he managed to get to the shoe house without being seen by the General. Then he changed into another Teenie Weenie suit of clothes.

That night Gogo heated several thimbles of water on the kitchen stove and gave his clothes a mighty washing. He did get the odor out of the suit, but to this day it has a peculiar tea color.
